Spring 1981

Dear Friends:

We're late and we're sorry but a series of events such as trips to the hospital for several of the Board Members and a few other obstacles to orderly progress have plagued us.

Our Annual Meeting and election resulted in the following new members being elected: C. C. and Dottie Sprinkle and Beth Brewer, Berenice (Tommye) Thomas and Doris Paul were reelected to the Board.

On June 1 the new officers were elected: C. C. Sprinkle, President; Phil Schloss, Vice President; Beth Brewer, Secretary; and Dottie Sprinkle, Treasurer. We are searching for someone to serve as Cruelty Officer since Marynancy McLaughlin resigned from that office.

Since most of the officers are new to most of you, we will try to acquaint you with some of their talents and interests.

C. C. SPRINKLE and DOTTIE have owned a home on the lake for several years, but it was not until this past year that they resigned their respective positions and became permanent residents. C. C. was an engineer with Procter and Gamble and Dottie was a bank officer in Lenexa, Kansas. They reared three sons so they have been on intimate terms with frogs, snakes, birds and dogs. C. C. is an ardent student of flora and fauna, canoeing around the lake observing birds, beavers and other wild life. Their back yard has been certified as a wildlife Habitat by the National Wildlife Association. Dottie is highly qualified as the Treasurer by virtue of her position in the Lenexa Bank. It is rumored that she is also a gourmet cook. We are fortunate to have this couple with us.

PHIL SCHLOSS you already know, since he served as Vice President last year. Phil, along with his wife Floss, own the New Orleans Hoteland they in turn are owned by two dogs who are town characters. Phil has worked long and hard for the Society and we welcome him aboard for another term.

BETH BREWER, our new Secretary, along with her husband, Mark, came here from Tulsa several years ago. She worked as a legal steno for a good many years, so with this background, her job as secretary should be a breeze. She and her husband were engaged in the Real Estate business before retiring and moving here. Beth has two daughters who live here, one of which is the owner of Ozark Outdoors, a sporting goods store on Main Street. She also has a son in Guthrie, Oklahoma. Beth is a member of the Hospital Guild, a worker in the Thrift Shop and she and her husband are restoring a 100 year old log house at Elk Ranch on a place they call Locust Hill. Beth is a welcome addition to our staff.

With Cliff Cox serving in an advisory capacity, how can this group fail to lead us in a successful year?

You have all heard the old expression, "I'll be there if the crick don't rise." Well, the crick did rise not too long ago and Judy could not ford it at the entrance to the shelter. Not to be defeated in getting to her dogs and cats, she backtracked to the railway station, but the train was not operating that day, so what did she do? She walked the rails over the
